

Spartans Set For Spardi Gras

All-College Show In Auditorium Tomorrow Night

COMEDY, MUSIC, RYTHM
HIGHLIGHTS OF 1939
SPARTAN REVELRIES AFFAIR

Comedy! Music! Laughter! Rhythm!
Tearing the cover from a package jammed full with uproarious, mirth-provoking humor and singable, swingable music, the 1939 Revelries opens before the public in the Civic Auditorium at 7:30 tomorrow night, climax to an all-day Spardi Gras celebration.

With mainly newcomers to the show carrying the bulk of the comedy roles and singing parts, this year's sparkling production offers an innovation in theme, an idea patterned after the Folies Bergere scheme.

SKIT PERFORMERS
Individual skits, similar to a super-vaudeville presentation, bring before the audience such guaranteed rib-ticklers as Roberta Long, the petite "Dulcy", Gracie Allen type; Len Baskin, the eccentric, "Mad Hatter" of the keyboards; "Happy" LaBee, better known as "Count Poffenoffenoffski"; and "Lany" Bob Tremaine.

A bewitching new chorus, consisting of 12 comely high-kickers, will introduce several new dance routines, among them the "Drum-

Drama Tryouts Held Today At 4:00, Room 53

The San Jose State college Drama department holds tryouts today at 4 o'clock in Room 53 for John Monks, Jr.'s fast-moving comedy of a military academy, "Brother Rat".

STUDENTS INVITED
All students, regardless of departmental major, are invited to tryouts by Mr. Hugh Gillis, head of the Speech department, who will direct the play.

Scripts, which are still on reserve in the library, may be read during tryouts.

EIGHTEEN ROLES
Eighteen roles will be available to students entering tryouts of which fourteen will go to men, with four particularly good woman's parts to cast, said Mr. Gillis.

Swim Extravaganza Cast Named; Edith Norton Bluebeard's Bride

Miss Gail Tucker, Extravaganza director, announced yesterday the girls chosen for the roles in the annual swim presentation, "Three Tales", to be given in the Men's gym May 22 and 23.

BLUEBEARD BRIDE
Miss Edith Norton won the role of the bride in the Bluebeard number. Other roles from this part include Ruby Freitas as Bluebeard, Leila Gulmert, housekeeper; Virginia Moore, valet; and Joyce Uzzell, bride's mother.

CAST SELECTIONS
Miss Tucker further announced that all characters in Bluebeard are to be in the balcony in swim suits at 6:30 sharp Monday night and the cast for Jack and the Beanstalk in swim suits at 7:30 sharp. At 8:15 Monday the cast for Humpty Dumpty will be selected and any girl who has come out for any past practices and is not yet cast should come for this rehearsal.

Campus Program Broadcast 7:30 Tonight

Johnny Knight's "Campus Chatter", formerly heard on Friday's at 8:45, will be broadcast tonight at 7:30 over station KQW.

This change in program will be for this week only so it will not conflict with Spardi Gras day and the Spartan Revelries. Complete news of the campus featuring coming events, features, and topics of interest to the students will be announced.

Annual Carnival Opens Tomorrow At High Noon

SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE WILL PHOTOGRAPH HIGHLIGHTS OF CELEBRATION

Tomorrow at high noon, the cork will pop off, and the tenth renewal of San Jose State's traditional Spardi Gras with all the gaiety, color, life, and enthusiasm for which the annual affair is noted will be in full swing, continuing for thirteen hours.

THIRTEEN HOURS

Thirteen hours of fun, laughter, entertainment, food, and athletics will be climaxed by the seventh annual Spartan Revelries in the Civic auditorium and the Spardi Gras dance in the tennis courts.

Exactly at twelve o'clock a bomb will go off, officially opening the colorful Carnival Day. Classes will be excused and all Spartans clad in gaudy array of costumes will flock into the Quad to partake in the occasion. The opening will be featured by a fanfare of trumpets after the bomb, and Arthur Van Horn will lead the opening ceremonies.

OPEN TILL 3:30

The concessions will be open from 12 to 3:30, giving all students a chance of actively participating in egg throwing, balloon-breaking, dunking, dancing, bucking horses, and a score of other varied concessions.

Contest judging will start at 3:15

As Soon As Juniors Tell Seniors Then Everyone Will Know

Sneak Day Plans Out Of The Bag—Yeah?

By JERRY STICKLES
Well, the secret is out. The juniors have found out when Sneak Day is taking place, and now all they have to do is to tell Keith Birlem, so he will know what day they have decided on and make his plans accordingly.

STUDENTS THREATENED
Rex Purcell and Leroy Zimmerman have made so many threats about anyone touching the third member of their trio, Carlton Peregoy, that the seniors have decided not to include Purcell and Zimmerman among those kidnapped. The mighty men of the school, the seniors, don't want to tackle anybody who won't offer resistance.

Some of the theories that the poor miserable juniors are working to find out what the seniors are up to only tend to show them up as to how stupid they really are. It's sometimes better to keep your mouth shut and let people think you are ignorant than to open your mouth and prove the fact.

BOYLES THREATENED
According to the big six, if John

THREE DAILYS SNEAK WEEK

There will be only three issues of the Daily next week.

There will be no paper Monday as the staff will attend Spardi Gras Friday afternoon.

Next week being declared Sneak Week, the day following Sneak Day no paper will be printed. This is because the staff is composed mainly of juniors and seniors.
—Editor's Note.

Moon Featured At Spardi Gras Outdoor Dance

According to Steve Hosa, Social Affairs chairman, the services of Old Man Moon have been secured for the outdoor dance Friday evening, and will lend its full beauty to the romantic setting of the final feature of Spardi Gras.

TAIX'S MUSIC
Sheldon Taix will bring his Californians to the tennis courts immediately following Revelries in the Civic auditorium and will supply the music for this festive affair.

The decorations committee has promised something unusual in outdoor scenery for the affair and the surface of the courts will be smooth and danceable.

REFRESHMENTS
Refreshments will be served featuring doughnuts made right at the dance. Cokes and cider will also be on sale to thirsty dancers. Dancing will begin at 10 p.m. and continue until 1 a.m. This is the only school dance of the year lasting until after 12.

Monday Is Final Date For Fees

Monday, May 8, is the deadline for paying fees!

After that date a late fee of $1 will be charged, declared Harry Brakebill, of the Business office, yesterday.

Unless fees are paid by May 12, registration is subject to cancellation, stated Brakebill.

JUNIOR MOBILIZATION TODAY FOR SNEAK WEEK ACTIVITIES

Hugh Staley, junior class prexy, urges all third-year students to attend the big meeting today in Room 39 at 12:30—"be there and find out the dope on Sneak Week activities. Of course we can't expose all our secrets in such an open meeting but it will be very much to your advantage to attend and listen to what we do have to say," said Staley.

Come prepared to state whether or not you will be able to participate in the all-night activities prior to Sneak Day. Also be ready to say whether or not you will be able to get a car on the Big Day. In other words come prepared to do your part to help your class put the seniors in their place if we can get them down that low.

At the junior meeting late last night the third-year men set up a list of the senior "big shots" that they would concentrate on when Sneak Week gets underway next week.

RADIO SPEAKING CLASS TO PRESENT 'I DO SOLEMNLY SWEAR'; CAST NOW COMPLETE

Selection of the cast for the next Radio Speaking society presentation, "I Do Solemnly Swear", has been completed.

Playing the two leading roles will be Patricia Ironsides and Raber Davenport as Mrs. Jackland and attorney Rosemark. Other parts will be taken by Donna Berken, Johnson Mosier, John Weybrew, Bill Craddock, and Gordon Roth.

"I Do Solemnly Swear" is a radio dramatization written by Eileen Brown who will also direct the play. It differs from the usual radio drama in that the thoughts of the woman on the stand are spoken aloud. The change from the actual speaking voice to that of spoken thoughts requires clever acting technique. This part will be played by Miss Ironsides.

Booth Prizes In Dean's Office

All organizations sponsoring booths on Spardi Gras Day must obtain their prizes Friday morning from 10 to 12 in Dean Dimmick's office. Prize Chairman Dick Ofstad announced yesterday.

The prizes will be in boxes and will be delivered on a consignment basis. Refills will be available in Miss Dimmick's office any time up until the concessions close.

Our Devalued (60-cent) Diplomacy

EDITOR'S NOTE: All signed editorials are the views of the authors, and do not always express the opinion of the Daily.

America doesn't want trouble and can't afford neutrality. We've got to steer a middle course like a fly in a soda water straw.—Arthur "Bugs" Baer.

Amidst the thousands and more of political and economic complexities that are interwoven into the churning pattern of the Europe of today, the press "bears tidings of the birth of another Savior" who desires to "weave in his strand of gold". President Roosevelt has already introduced himself. We are inclined to believe, however, the resulting harmony—at home and abroad—will not prove so sweet as "the silver threads about the gold".

President Roosevelt, for whatever reasons, aspires to the role of "the Guardian Angel". (Possibly it is the 14 good points within him). We hope he soon discovers our borders cannot be stretched to the Rhine. Furthermore it is an open secret to our State Department that our borders no longer reach around the Americas.

NO WAR IN SIGHT

The president heroically aspires to insure peace. From what war he desires to insure us is beyond our comprehension. Could it be his dramatic orations are serving as a cloak for other ambitions?

There will be no general European war this year—the next—or the next. It is a known fact the overwhelming military superiority of the totalitarian states will crumble with the coming weeks. If the fascist leaders do not strike now they will never get another such chance. They realize only too well the futility of war in the present balancing of European powers—the futility of warfare in face of internal structural weaknesses.

And so would Roosevelt, through the subtlety of his conferences, speeches and press notices, create a war hysteria of which the Nazi press justifiably accuses him. Is it merely to transfer the troubles and the headaches of an industrially stagnated people from disintegrating New Deal Experimentation to newer channels of European crises. Perhaps a rearmament boom may create the minor prosperity needed to further his political ambitions.

TROUBLE WILL BEGIN

At the time when the "two great democracies" sit back with a sigh, American troubles will really begin. Adolph Hitler will march again. Next time it will be under cover of a neutral Britain—and a sympathetic Britain. The German imperialistic "strings" that manipulate the barking mouth of Handsome Adolph will direct him into the Ukraine. This need not be beyond your comprehension. It is in the trend, and it is in "Mein Kampf". Copies are available.

The appeaser of Adolph Hitler; the gentleman (we must be polite) with the monopoly to every inside track to the title of "the Greatest Fool in all History", heads the Imperial Chemical Industries which owns a good block of stock in the largest trust in Germany—the Dynamit Actien Gesellschaft.

But should Chamberlain be labeled such a fool? Can it be there is merely a conflict of interests between the masses of the English people and the few English cabinet members so heavily represented in the powerful Federation of British Industries—a federation which has a secret agreement with the Nazis to undercut the United States and the Anglo-American trade agreement so laboriously negotiated by Cordell Hull?

PARTNERS IN A DOUBLE-CROSS

So we wonder if President Roosevelt will be so selfish as to redirect public opinion to the double-crossing, deliberate imperialistic maneuverings of European powers from his New Deal "scrap-heaps" in order to further, POSSIBLY, political ambitions.

But, even if a European war did break out, would there be any reason that we should side with a nation whose officials, banks, and industries have aided Germany ever since Munich. (Caution: There is no relationship of the marriage of a son of the Roosevelt family into the DuPont munitions millions and the present war hysteria.)

The further the British boost the German imperialistic interests of which they are a part, the more rapid will be the already rapidly moving Nazi economic inroads in the American hemisphere. The welfare of the United States rests on a completely reorganized trade relationship with Latin America. It is only a question of time when American public opinion will veer President Roosevelt from his stupidly trying to "plow under the Nazis" to one of plowing under the "bleached bones of the American farmer".

Only as long as we grow the high-cost, tariff-subsidized American agricultural products that could be the basis of a huge Inter-American trade, we can expect increasing successes of British-aided Nazi economic invasions.

IT WILL HURT

Toes will have to be stepped on. And it will hurt. The farmers must bear the brunt of any reorganization—and its solution is a tremendous problem—far beyond the abilities of a single man, or a single group. Perhaps the president will see the light before his political opposition does.

To deeply concerned militarists, we ask, need we dearly pay the price of economic self-sufficiency—at a price of high cost farming and stagnated Latin American trade with safeguards of two bodies of waters and a huge navy?

Perhaps so, if we keep this navy in other peoples' backyards. Stupid foreign entanglements reveal the price. Already one-half of the American people believe there will be a war in 1939—and that the United States will be forced to enter—AND WHY? It might be painful experiences for many toes if we try to root out the causes of our present Nazi scare and Latin-American dilemma. However, it may be a painful experience for every toe and a good many heads if we attempt to "plow under the Nazis".

—JIM MARLAIS.

Just Among Ourselves

By DR. T. W. MacQUARRIE

Yes, I guess I'll have to dress up a bit for Spardi Gras. It will be quite modest, of course, for I must preserve some dignity no matter what the occasion. I'm not sure it could be called a costume but it will be something different, I'll promise that.

I like to dress up, all right, and at one time I did make quite an effort for Spardi Gras. Actually, however, it was not much of a success. If I could get as much fun out of it, and give as much real pleasure, as ol' Bill and his side kick from the Language department, I'd do it every time.

And speaking of costumes, there must be limits even at Spardi Gras. Such celebrations usually run themselves into the ground. The go-getters, promoters you know, wild to cause a sensation, try to outdo all former efforts.

MacQuarrie

There is always the tendency to do something shocking in lieu of something that is really funny. Gaunt fellows dressed in barrels should be barred this time. We have had so many of them, and every campus celebration of this kind seems to have one or two. They are not very original. Actually someone usually comes and cuts the supporting straps and the barrel drops to the ground, breaking a couple of long toes. I think our young women should not appear in beach costumes. The beach is the place for that, if any place is. Certainly such costumes have no place in our celebration. There is nothing new either about dragging a bed around. It isn't funny, it never was. It merely gives certain of the cruder minds a chance to function. Why cater to such attitudes?

Let us make this really a college affair, no outsiders in any official capacity whatever. The college reserves the right to close up any concession that employs outsiders or gives a percentage to off campus commercial interests. It's a criticism of our capacity to plan something original if we have to turn it over to professional entertainers. Let's make it a good time, but let's handle ourselves.

Letter to Faculty:—

Dear Faculty Members:

The Social Affairs committee wishes to issue a special invitation to you to attend our Spardi Gras dance. It will be held, as usual, after the Revelries, from 10:00 p.m. until 1:00 a.m., on the tennis courts.

This year's dance will have as its theme Oriental-Occidental. Japanese lanterns will transform one end of the courts into a subdued far-eastern atmosphere where dancing will be held. This will be contrasted at the other end by a western scene consisting of wagons, hay stacks, and livestock. Here cool drinks and refreshments will be served.

We sincerely hope that we will have the opportunity to welcome a large number of you to this year's dance. It will be the finishing climax to a gay, colorful, and exciting day.

—Sincerely,

THE ANSWER

Dear John Weybrew:

Judging from your article in yesterday's paper, which undoubtedly refers to one Mr. McLean, I would say that if you were to write a play review the whole thing would be centered around one Mr. Weybrew. If you were just half as good as you claim, the Spartan Daily would indeed be proud of having one of the best play reviewers in the country. Unfortunately, though, your conceitedness has it all over your ability.

Just one word in favor of McLean. He's no backslapper. If he thinks a play is lousy, he says so. If he thinks it's good, he says so. So for that reason I feel that McLean should be complimented—not condemned—by everyone, including all the know-it-alls on the campus.

UNKNOWN DUTIES

Dear Thrust and Parry:

To whom it may concern:

For some time I have been wishing to express my appreciation to someone, I don't know whom, for services rendered this quarter. I have been getting my Spartan Daily every day in the mail while I have been out student teaching.

Of course, we pay our tuition and are entitled to the paper, but we don't pay for the stamp and the time that somebody puts every day to see that we get our copy. When you think of some sixty of us getting this service daily, it really is an item. Anyway, thanks a lot to whoever is responsible.

Football, Soccer Contests Head Spardi Gras Sport Card Tomorrow

Gridmen Tune Up Under Arcs At Stadium

Replacing last week's three squads with four new combinations, Coach Dud DeGroot puts his second preview of Spartan football hopes for 1939 before the public at 7:30 tonight under the arcs at Spardi Stadium.

The past week has been spent in smoothing the rough spots that appeared in the offense last week during the first showing. Tonight's game will be the first of two to be shown this week. The other will be tomorrow afternoon during the Spardi Gras activities.

DUAL PURPOSE

The dual purpose of these night performances is to acquaint the coaching staff with the personnel while the fellows get some much needed and valuable experience, the other being to give the students and public a good look at the new Golden Bombers.

Many of the men have been shifted around in their positions by DeGroot and "Pop" Warner to places where it is believed they will perform to better advantage. Big Jim Wilson, who was touted last week as understudy for Zimmerman at fullback, has been changed to guard. Willie Swartzel, formerly a guard, has been shifted to a quarterbacking spot.

OLD GUARD

Outstanding men in this week's scrimmage were some of the old guard. Those men who already have their positions for the coming year almost cinched have been the ones who were most consistent in the offense and defense although some of the transfer men have been pressing them rather closely. Captain Bob Titchenal, "Bronco" Bronson, "Truck" Torrell, and Hal Buffa, all first string men from last year, have been the powerhouses of the line. Herman Zetterquist, Howard Costello, and Carlton Perego, who also played their share in the 1938 grid campaign, are those who seem to get the nod for their backfield positions.

As it was last week, there will be no admission charged for the night's contest and everybody is welcome to go out and watch the newest edition in action.

SPARTANS LOOK FOR TOUGH COMPETITION FROM DRAKE TEAM

By FRED MERRICK

Although Santa Barbara is listed as San Jose's track opponent for this week-end, Drake University, the phantom rival by way of the air mail lanes, is expected to offer greater competition.

In spite of the fact that the two teams will be some 2000 miles apart, San Jose's battle with Drake should be a lot closer than the Spartan-Gaucha duel at Santa Barbara Saturday. No stretch drives nor brilliant come-through performances under pressure will feature the Drake meet as the outcome will be decided via air mail.

Cal Poly Cancels Scheduled Swim Meet With S. J.

Charlie Walker, swimming mentor for Sparta, received the following telegram this a.m.: "Will not be able to meet you this season in swimming. Team has flu.—Roy Daniel, coach."

This is the second time that a telegram from Cal Poly has balked a meet with San Jose. Two weeks ago the swimmers were just recovering from a variety of ailments.

To cap the climax the Moragamen have decided that final examinations compel their team to drop the Spartan splashes from the schedule of St. Mary's.

This leaves Menlo junior college the only obstacle on the schedule of San Jose. Both the freshman and varsity teams will go to Menlo for a return match with the J. C.'ers on Monday.

The first annual C.C.A.A. meet which is to be held at the new civic plunge on the beach at Santa Barbara on May 18 and 19 will bring the season to an end for the Spartans. Both freshman and varsity will go to this meet, not as a unit but as individual swimmers, each man picking the event in which he is most likely to win.

The teams entered in the championships are Fresno, San Jose, Santa Barbara, and San Diego.

Coach Tiny Hartranft's cinder forces should win their fourth consecutive dual meet victory in easy fashion Saturday. Fresno, a 16-point victim of the Spartans, swamped Santa Barbara 96-35 last week. Despite the fact that Fresno has improved since meeting San Jose, the Spartans enter the Gaucha meet as top-heavy favorites.

Lack of numbers may be San Jose's greatest weakness in the Santa Barbara meet. Hartranft is limiting his forces to a 16-man team, but several of these entries will do double duty. Even with this small squad, the Spartans will be favored to annex the two top spots in several events. Past performances favor San Jose to grab one-two in the 880 and mile as well as the pole vault and broad jump.

A clean sweep of the first place positions is not an impossibility for the Spartans. Fresno gave up but one top spot to the Gauchos, and that was in the two mile, a fairly strong item on the San Jose roster.

Frosh Trackmen Meet Prepsters

In what may be their final meet of the season, the San Jose freshman track and field stars will battle the Centerville high school aggregation on the enemy's cinder path today.

Coach Tiny Hartranft, who is trying to schedule additional meets for his Spartlets, will field a team that has just begun to hit its peak.

With many of the yearlings showing constant improvement, Hartranft hopes to give his young proteges as much experience as possible before they step into the rank and file of varsity competition next season.

Shinkickers In Grudge Tilt On San Carlos Turf

Varsity vs. Alumni soccer rivalry will flare anew with all the trimmings Spardi Gras day, when the old timers will exchange shin kicks with this year's crop on the San Carlos turf at 3 o'clock tomorrow.

That the game will take on a grudge aspect is evidenced by the joint statement of "Ham" Hodgson and Ed Crotser, who promise "to punch that smarty Jack Marsh in the nose" before the game is over.

Other alumni who have been belittling the ability of the varsity, promising to show the youngsters a thing or two, are Martin Olivari, Helton Harper, and Bob Harris.

While the alumni have an apparent edge by the outstanding material gathered together on their team, the present varsity will have the edge because of frequent practice sessions for the past few weeks.

The alumni attack will be speeded up by the presence of trackster "Stinky" Herman. Len is a former soccer player and with the aid of many outstanding players including four former Spartan captains should go places on Friday.

The game will precede the football game, and bleachers will be set up for the spectators.

Three Spartans In Net Tournery

With their third consecutive tennis title sewed up, Coach Erwin Blesh's Spartan netters will enter three men in the Northern California Intercollegiate Conference individual tennis championships Saturday at the Palace courts in San Francisco.

Spartan men entering are John Krysiak in the singles and the doubles contingent of Ed Harper and George Egling. Krysiak who has bested every racquetteer in the conference except Ken Leake of Santa Clara, will attempt to get revenge by netballing the Bronco should the two tangle in the tournery.

The Harper-Egling duo that has withstood the best cannon-balling that the conference has offered, are given top chance of putting a claim to the doubles championship.

Entries from St. Mary's, Santa Clara, U.S.F., College of Pacific, and San Jose will compete.

Zimmerman Out Of Spring Drills To Rest Chronic Elbow Ailment

Leroy Zimmerman, brilliant fullback on the Spartan grid machine for the past two years, will take no more active part in spring training this year.

The triple-threat star has been bothered for some time with an elbow ailment, and at the advice of Coach Dud DeGroot and Dr. Statlery, team physician, has agreed to give the ailing member a much needed rest.

DeGroot explained the setup yesterday by stating that "Zimmerman" has had a chronic elbow ailment for some time and the doctor advised that he give the joint a rest. "After talking it over, we (Zimmerman and I) decided that it would be wise for him to drop out of spring practice for the remainder of the quarter as a precautionary measure. This does not mean, however, that he is not in shape to play. He could play right now, but we don't want to take a chance of rebruising the spot and thus eliminate his chances of actual competition in his last year of collegiate football."

The big blonde who has thrilled thousands with his beautiful passes is not overly happy about the situation but realizes that it is the best thing to do.

S. J. Entomology Group Takes School Field Trip Into Insect-infested Lands Near Hollister; To Exhibit Samples

Pickled grasshoppers, live grasshoppers, poisoned grasshoppers!

These are but a few of the trophies collected by 11 students of the Economic Entomology class on Monday's trip through the region near Hollister now infested with grasshopper plague.

COLLECTED SPECIMENS

Members of the class, accompanied by Dr. Carl Duncan, visited the Henry Berg ranch where they collected the specimens which will be on exhibit in the Science department.

Samples of poison mash used to kill the insects was obtained by the group from Ward B. Saunders, health commissioner at Hollister. The compound contains bran, molasses, and arsenic.

INSECTS EATEN

An interesting feature about the insects, according to Dr. Duncan, is the fact that the dead insects are eaten by the others. Therefore if one insect eats the mash, it is possible to kill as many as nine others because the compound can be diluted 10 times without losing its effectiveness.

Reports of the extent of the plague have been exaggerated, Dr. Duncan remarked. In isolated localities the plague may be as bad as it has been represented, but nowhere is there a several mile continuous front of the insects.

SKINS EXHIBITED

Grasshopper skins found lying on the grain stalks will be on exhibit in the Science building along with samples of the poisoned insects and samples of the injured grain.

SPARDI GRAS

directly in back of the Publications office. Costumes for students, faculty; beard judging, milk feeding, and the Cinderella contest will all be featured at this time.

SOCCER, FOOTBALL

From three to four a varsity-alumni soccer game will be held on the San Carlos turf followed at four by a football game between the teams of Dud DeGroot and Pop Warner.

At five o'clock in the rear Quad, the All-Spartan feed will be held at the slight charge of five cents per plate. Tickets can be obtained from the controller's office upon presentation of student body card and a single nickel.

REVELRIES AT 7:30

After dinner, there will be time for everyone to shave, shower, shampoo, and in other ways get ready for the Spartan Revelries at 7:30. The dance will start at 10 and continue until 1 o'clock.

An added feature of the Carnival activities will be the wandering camera man from the San Francisco Chronicle who will be gathering material for the Rotogravure section. The San Francisco daily will be represented at the carnival, feed, Revelries, and dance.

Another emphatic note was

Spartan Spears Get Certificates From Infirmary

First group ever to receive official recognition for previous services and contributions to the Health Cottage, the Spartan Spears were presented Tuesday night with certificates of membership to the Elizabeth McFadden Health Cottage.

Students were honored for their gifts to the department during the last few years, two fully equipped beds having been the donations.

Last year's members are requested to see Miss Twombly of the Health department to receive their certificates.

Seniors Nominate Today At 11:00

Senior orientation and nominations for assembly will be held today at 11 o'clock in the Morris Dailey auditorium.

Following nominations, seniors will hold regular orientation meeting, to which they have extended juniors an invitation to attend.

All seniors must report to the auditorium for the meeting at which attendance will be taken.

REVELRIES

bolero", rhumbad to original music by Jack Green, while Mary Lou Somerville will offer a dance solo.

ORIGINAL COMPOSITIONS

Other original compositions to be heard in the show are "Blue Solitude" by Wilbur Scott, and "Why Can't You Say You're Sorry to My Heart?" by Jack Harcourt. Gail Harbaugh, Mae Zimmerman, Elinor Tully, and Michael Golick will be heard in popular song interpretations.

Although tickets are selling fast, there are still a few of them left, both general admission for 35 cents and reserved seats for 50 cents. These may be purchased at the Controller's office, or at Roos Bros., Sherman Clay, or Ferguson's.

Finish Spardi Gras with a bang! Join the revelers at the Revelries! —IRENE MELTON.

placed on the costume idea. Ed Grant will have his police patrol in full swing, and ready to arrest any student caught in the Quad without a costume.

All classes will be excused at noon, and the Co-op store will close at one o'clock.

WOMEN'S P. E. NEWS

Twenty students have signed up for one or more dancing lessons which will be given at Stanford for the remainder of the week by Doris Humprey and Charles Wiedman.

Members of both the men's and women's dancing classes, and Orchestras are attending the lessons.

Anyone wishing to take lessons is asked to sign with Miss Lucas of the Physical Education department.

With tentative plans being made to invite Stanford to play at San Jose State, the tennis ladder occupies the attention of the Tennis club, members of which are competing for places on it.

Six colleges participated in the tennis playday at San Mateo Saturday. San Jose State won four out of the five matches played, scoring on the first and second singles and the second and third doubles.

HOBBIES POUR INTO LOCAL COMPETITION

Hobbies are still pouring into the Leon Jacobs hobby contest with many more promised, announced George Place, Spartan Daily business manager, yesterday.

Place, one of the judges for the contest, will award prizes of 20, 10, and five dollars for the three entries judged best by the officials. There are no specifications as to the type of hobby entered. Collections, home-built models, or anything that answers an avocation will be taken and put on display in the Jacobs store on First street.

As announced by Place, the entries will probably be judged with reference to their neatness and uniqueness. The contest will run until the end of the quarter but promptness is urged in placing any entry into the contest.

Frosh, Sophs To RENEW EMNITIES With Tug-o-war

Freshmen and sophomores of San Jose State will again clash!

This time it will be in the form of a tug-o-war between the two classes which has been set for tomorrow, Spardi Gras Day, according to Dave Atkinson, president of the freshman class, who has issued the challenge to the sophomores.

"They may be lucky enough to beat us in basketball," Atkinson said, "but they can't beat us in tug-o-war. Just one reason of many that they can't out-pull us is that we have more future dentists in our class than they have."

According to one frosh commentator, the excess beef on the side of the sophomores, President Al Aiton, will slightly hinder the chances of the freshmen winning the tug. However, the general cry begin taken up by the lower class at this time is, "The bigger they are, the harder they fall."

Annual YM-YW Conference Held May 20, 21 At Redwood Lodge; 'Challenge To Loyalty' Theme

With the theme of "Challenge to Loyalties", the annual spring YM and YW conference is to be held at Redwood Lodge in the Santa Cruz mountains May 20 and 21, announced Doris Douglass, conference chairman.

DISCUSSIONS

Discussion leaders will lead their groups in talks setting up religion as an approach to life and will evaluate various political, economic, and social problems.

Elizabeth Boyden Howes, who has recently returned from Germany where she studied under Fritz Kunkel, Dr. Dillon Throckmorton, stimulating San Francisco discussion leader, and Lou Wasserman, Director of Adult Education, have been chosen to lead the three groups at the conference.

SPORT PROGRAM

Recreation, including tennis, swimming, hiking, dancing, baseball, and other sports, will play a major part in the week-end program.

Total cost of the session is $1.65, including transportation which will be provided. Students are asked to sign up in Room 14 as soon as possible.

FRAT HOLDS INITIATION

Rho chapter of Epsilon Pi Tau, national industrial arts fraternity, will hold their first initiation Saturday night at the Hotel St. Claire at 6 p.m.

President Mel Rush, varsity wrestler, will preside over the meeting. Dr. Herbert A. Sotzin, head of the Industrial Arts department, is faculty adviser for the organization.

NOTICES

Spartan Knights: Let's see a big turnout this afternoon. Starting at one o'clock, we will work all afternoon and evening if necessary. The more that turn out, the earlier we finish, so draw your own conclusions. Don't forget your own hammers and bring a saw if possible. Come during the evening if you can't make it in the afternoon.

—Dick Nolte.

Complete Revelries rehearsal will be held some time during the day. Look for bulletins around school for time and place. Everybody be there.

SOCIETY WILL HEAR NURSE

The history and interesting events in the life of the San Jose State college Health Cottage will be related by Miss Elizabeth McFadden, Health and Hygiene head, at a meeting of Pi Epsilon Tau, general elementary honorary society, at a meeting Monday evening in Room 1 of the Home Economics building at 6:30.

It will be a regular monthly meeting of Pi Epsilon Tau, but visitors are welcome, according to Miss Marie Waxham, society member. The meeting will be a short one so that those who desire may attend the Mixer.

Frat Initiates Five Pledges

Informal initiation for pledges of Phi Upsilon Pi, chemistry fraternity, will climax Hell Week at the home of Art Heinsen Saturday night.

The five pledges included in the initiation rites will be Vernon Silver, Ben Naylor, Bob Johnson, Harley Bradley, and Bill Wilson.

A formal banquet will be held at Lucca's in Santa Clara, Sunday, for all members of the club.

Don't Be A Dead Pan

"Don't be a dead pan!"

This is the warning issued by Seymour Locks, prominent art student, to all those planning to attend Spardi Gras.

Locks gives artistic vent to his feelings in the poster now in the Publications office window. Literal interpretation of his warning is seen in the deceased kitchen utensil reclining morbidly in a coffin.

Wake up and live! Burst into bloom with a dazzling COS-TOOM!

CLASS FINDS HIDDEN CAVES AT PINNACLES

Finding of a hidden passage through the Pinnacles, national monument south of San Jose, resulted from a two-night excursion of the San Jose State Geology class to that region last week-end according to Wayne Kartchner, instructor who accompanied the group.

Art Heinsen and Jack Hoque were the two responsible for the discovery of the caves that have been blocked for a number of years by boulders. While others spent their time on Sunday hiking to either the top of Mt. Chalone, highest peak in the region, or to mines that haven't been operated for about forty years, the two explorers set out to find the hidden caves—and succeeded after a few hours of crawling on hands and knees. These blocked caves will be regularly visited by geology classes in the future, according to Kartchner.

The group that went this year numbered 33 in all and left at various times Friday, sleeping out that night and the next in a caterpillar-infested region. The geologists spent all day Saturday on a hike, observing conditions which brought about the present Pinnacles.

Gamma Phi Sigma

Gamma Phi Sigma, newly organized social fraternity, has announced the names of their pledges. The formal initiation will be held on Sunday, May 21.

The pledges are: Jack Aberle, Ray Bruton, James Budros, Vernon Caldwell, Jerrold Fear, Douglas Harville, Forrest O'Brien, and William Triplett.

TRYOUTS

Slated for production June 1 and 2, "Brother Rat" is made up of a series of comic situations based on possible or real happenings in a military academy with the usual hazing of the "pledges" and girl trouble, without benefit of too much flag waving which usually accompanies plays or movies written around this subject.

FOLLOWS COMEDY

It will follow the spring season's first light comedy production, "Alice-Sit-By-The-Fire", directed by Miss Margaret Douglas, which will be presented for a two-day run Thursday and Friday of next week.

SNEAK WEAK

Boyles doesn't discontinue anti-senior activities, he will be placed first on the "Shot" list.

The Senior-Junior Mixer, headed by Virgil Greenley, will start Sneak Week off with a bang Monday evening, May 8. The Mixer dance will be held in the Men's gym from 7:30-9:30, following which 30 minutes will be given for the juniors to get back in their holes, and remember that all is fair in love and war, and this is war.
